Utilities' 2019 Rate Case: Water and Wastewater Tariffs Rate Hearing October 23, 2018

The City Council's authority to establish rates, charges and regulations for utility services is contained within the Colorado Constitution, Colorado Statutes, the Colorado Springs City Charter, the City Code and the City Council's Rules and Procedures.

RATE-SETTING STANDARDS

Article 20 of the Colorado Constitution provides the City Council with the authority to establish water and wastewater rates, charges and regulations. Article 6 of the City Charter provides authority to operate the water and wastewater systems.

Under Colorado Revised Statute § 31-35-402 (1)(f), the rate-setting decisions of the City Council in water and wastewater matters are not subject to outside regulatory review. City Code §12.1.108(F) provides that water and wastewater rates for customers inside and outside of municipal limits must be in such amounts as the City Council, in its discretion, determines to be reasonable and appropriate in light of all circumstances.

Typically, rates are considered just and reasonable if the rates balance:

1) the utility's interest in the recovery of legitimately incurred costs and a reasonable return on its investment dedicated to utility service, and

2) the customers' interest in being assessed charges that approximate the costs associated with the provision of utility service.

As to water service for customers outside municipal limits, Colorado courts have affirmed surcharges that are not cost based under the discretion offered by Colorado Revised Statute § 31-35-402. Rates will not be found to unjustly discriminate among customers provided that there is a rational basis underlying any differences in charges between customers and customer classes.

QUASI-JUDICIAL ROLE

Part 4 of the Rules and Procedures of City Council, together with § 12.1.108 of the City Code, set forth the process that governs the City Council's hearing today. In setting rates, charges and regulations for water and wastewater services, City Council is acting in a quasi-judicial role. Unlike actions taken in your legislative role, such as adoption of an ordinance, your decision to establish rates must be based on the record before you. The written materials you have received, as well as the oral presentations and testimony at this public hearing, will constitute the record of the proceeding.

Today, you will hear the 2019 Rate Case, which involves tariff proposals for water and wastewater services.

At the conclusion of the public hearing, I will assist you in determining what issues you have identified and ask for your preliminary decision as to those issues. The draft decisions and orders for these separate proposals will be reviewed at your Work Session Meeting of November 13, 2018. You will be asked to adopt resolutions at your Formal Meeting of November 13, 2018, in order to implement the rate proposals effective January 1, 2019.

CITY ATTORNEY EX PARTE POLL

At this point in the proceedings, if City Council members have received any Ex Parte communications, I would ask that you indicate those communications for the record.

(THE CITY COUNCIL MEMBERS MAY GIVE YOU COPIES, WHICH WILL BE PLACED INTO THE RECORD AFTER THE HEARING.)
