Mr. Gray presented an application for the Parkside District. It is a request to establish a Historic Preservation Overlay District. It is 4.29 acres located on 15 residential properties located within the proposed district area. Mr. Gray said the development started in 1885 and continued through the 1950's and has historical and architectural significance. The application complies with PlanCOS and HistoricCOS and supports new HP-O's. Staff requested that the design standards have further review prior to final board recommendation and referral to City Council. Standard public notice was done and the majority of comments received strongly supported the application. One comment in opposition was received stating they oppose additional regulation on their property. Staff finds the approval criteria is met.

Applicant Presentation

Cheryl Brown, President of the Historic Uptown Neighborhood Association, presented the application for the Parkside District. Ms. Brown said they have a website dedicated to the project and have documented all the buildings, maps and processes. She said the features of the project include proximity to Monument Valley Park, the project is voluntary, the zone change will go through City Council and all the properties are residential. Ms. Brown said the purpose of the project is to define and honor important historic resources in the Historic Uptown neighborhood by initiating a historic preservation overlay zone for the Parkside District. She said the zoning is intended to designate, preserve, protect, enhance, and perpetuate those structures and areas that reflect outstanding elements of the City's cultural, artistic, environmental, social, economic, political, architectural, historic, or other heritage. Ms. Brown highlighted the timeline and phases of the project. Tim Scanlon, Historian for the Historic Uptown Neighborhood, presented the individual houses and their built dates that are included in the application. Mr. Scanlon also provided a list of houses that are not included in the application, mostly due to owners being non-responsive or having no interest of re-zoning. Mr. Scanlon said the Parkside District has architectural significance in that the area displays architecturally distinguishing characteristics. Mr. Scanlon provided a pictures examining the architecture of each house. He described in detail the historical significance of the architecture of the homes and the area. Mr. Scanlon said the City accepts responsibility for administering the HP-O for 17 principal buildings and one historic outbuilding. He said the benefits outweigh the costs, it is a display of civic pride and it is a formal acknowledgement of significant local history. Mr. Scanlon said the tangible benefits are that non-profit owners gain eligibility to apply for State Historic Grant funds. Residential owners and investors gain access to Colorado Income Historic Rehabilitation Tax Credits that offers 20% income tax credits for rehabilitation work. Mr. Scanlon said the intangible benefits of an HP-O are rehabilitation projects stimulate the local economy more than new construction, property owners are provided information on historic significance, neighborhood identification, preservation, energy conservation and a municipal policy.

Chair Lowenberg paused the presentation to hear public comment.

Tim Boddington, said the Historic Preservation Alliance has been noted as a supporting organization in this process. Mr. Boddington said it has been 25 years since a district has been nominated. He said not much has occurred since the establishment of HistoricCOS and this would be a major step in demonstrating that is alive and well and will survive in Colorado Springs. He said there are opportunities like this that need to be embraced.

Jim Ringe, a resident in the area, said they are in support of the application, and it will help preserve the neighborhood.

Dianne Bridges with Historic Neighborhoods Partnership and Vice-President for Historic Uptown Neighborhood Association. Ms. Bridges said their group is passionate about the City and the Historic older neighborhoods. She said she encourages the HPB to approve their request for an HP-O and recommend it to City Council. Ms. Bridges said it will benefit the property owners within the district and others across the City. She said it has been decades since another HP-O has come before the City. Ms. Bridges said there is room for process improvement, and they are willing to partner with the City to help improve the process. She said they are in support of the project.

Chair Lowenberg asked the Board Members whether they would like to proceed with the meeting to make a motion to reconvene the meeting to March 3, 2025.
