

Lynette Crow-Iverson

Lynette Crow-Iverson is the Founder, President and CEO of Conspire! a groundbreaking drug screening firm. Conspire! Has rapidly grown to serve over a thousand companies, schools and organizations. Lynette's experience as a trauma and cardiac nurse, combined with her keen insight into workforce trends and business needs, led to a seamless transition into a position of management of medical operations. Following that move, she immediately identified a market potential for industry compliance in the safe and drug-free workplace, resulting in a partnership in HealthQuest Medical Services.

Lynette is a respected authority routinely called upon by members in her industry and beyond. In addition to launching one of the state's most innovative businesses in the past decade, Lynette also serves on several boards and commissions dedicated to improving, enriching and enhancing the quality of life in Colorado Springs. Recognized as an expert in business ethics and corporate compliance, Lynette was mayor-appointed as a trustee for the Colorado Springs Health Foundation. She sits on the Regional Connect Committee for the Chancellor of UCCS and is also the Chairman of the Pikes Peak Workforce Development Board.
