“An annual report on PlanCOS performance and implementation is expected to be prepared and presented to the Planning Commission and City Council. This report will evaluate whether or not objectives are being achieved by reporting on Keystone Indicators, other measures of success, progress on recommended major city initiatives, experience with the development review process, and recommendations for realignment of strategic city priorities related to the Plan.”

As data is made available, the indicator dashboard will be updated throughout the year

This data will be logged for the annual report; tracking year to year changes. The annual report will speculate on whether progress toward PlanCOS's goals are being made.

2020 is the second year of implementation. From here, some inferences about the data can be made, however COVID-19 had a significant impact on the trajectory of some key data.
