A presentation of Colorado Colleges' Climate Vulnerability Report

Presenter:

Dr. Corina McKendry, Director of State of the Rockies Project, Associate Professor of Political Science and Associate Director of the Environmental Studies Program at Colorado College

Summary:

A presentation to City Council detailing the findings of Colorado Colleges' Climate Vulnerability Report. The report focuses on the four major vulnerabilities facing Colorado Springs - urban heat, water scarcity, wildfire and flooding. It is critical that Colorado Springs develop a comprehensive adaptation plan, which considers each of these vulnerabilities as contributing factors to climate change risk as a greater whole. Colorado College hopes to support the City's efforts to keep Colorado Springs safe, sustainable and resilient for all people.
