Background:

PlanCOS, the city's comprehensive guide to growth and development, was adopted by City Council in January of 2019. Yearly, a report will evaluate whether or not objectives are being achieved by reporting on Keystone Indicators, other measures of success, progress on recommended major city initiatives, experience with the development review process, and if there are any recommendations for realignment of strategic city priorities related to the Plan. 2019 will be the first year of the plan's implementation and the annual report serves as the "base year" for measuring goal and indicators moving forward.
