

Presiding Judge Candidate Summary

Judge Kristen Hoffecker

Summary:

Kristen Hoffecker brings more than two decades of broad judicial and legal experience spanning municipal, county, district, and private practice. She currently serves as an Associate Judge for the City of Colorado Springs, a State of Colorado Magistrate Judge in the 4th Judicial District, and Judge for the Town of Calhan, presiding over a broad range of judicial matters. Her prior roles include service as a City Administrative Hearing Officer, more than a decade in private practice, and prosecutorial positions with both the City of Colorado Springs and the 4th Judicial District Attorney's Office. Earlier in her career, she worked in county government, federal court, and the U.S. Attorney's Office through law school placements.

Her professional background also includes substantial involvement in legal education, community programs, and nonprofit organizations. She has participated in judicial onboarding, served on multiple boards, and contributed regularly as a presenter on probate, protective proceedings, guardianship, and public safety topics. Her experience reflects long-term engagement in judicial work, legal practice, and community-focused legal education.
